

IN-HOUSE PRO BONO IN PRACTICE PROFILE: MINNESOTA ACC CHAPTER

March 2014

The Minnesota Chapter of the Association of Corporate Counsel (MNACCA) formalized its pro bono and community service efforts in 2008 when the MNACCA Community Service Committee was appointed by MNACCA’s board of directors. Since then, it has provided members with opportunities to use their legal skills to help those in need, including veterans, local nonprofits, and small businesses. Reflecting on the benefits of the pro bono efforts, MNACCA Community Service Committee Co-Chair Fred Dawe notes:

“Our pro bono and community service programs have really provided wonderful opportunities for our members to serve. It is a benefit to both the community in which we live and work, and to our members. We often see members at our pro bono events that we don’t see at other events, so we clearly have been able to provide a niche these members are searching for.

We find that our members love the pro bono opportunities. Many of our members, especially those in smaller law departments, do not have the opportunity to do pro bono work through their companies and we are thrilled to provide them with the chance to give back in their communities using their skills and their time.”

Lessons Learned
Know your membership	Understand your members' interests and tailor your program accordingly.
Be flexible with scheduling	It is important to provide a wide array of dates and times for your events. By offering some events at breakfast, some at lunch and some after work or on weekends, the chapter is better able to reach out to potential volunteers and partners.
Be innovative	Be open to different opportunities. It is beneficial to bring in new pro bono partners on a regular basis so that members have the opportunity to volunteer with different organizations.
